BOER

Independence Not Possible

Says Asquith,

Former Liberal Home Secretary.

Protest Made Against the Pro-Boer Meeting Held in Queen's Hall.

Asquith Has Achieved a Complete Severance of Two Wings of the Liberal Party—Conservatives Happy.

London, June 20.—Herbert H. Asquith, the former Liberal home secretary, speaking at a Liberal dinner, protested against the pro-Boer resolutions adopted at Queen's hall being accepted as a pronouncement of the Liberal party.

He declared that Boer independence was impossible, and said the Liberals favored a free, federated South Africa, on the lines of Canada and Australia. Mr. Asquith further said that Liberals' holding his views had been branded as schismatics, but they had not changed their views, had always condemned the war policy, and that they considered it must now be the judgment of history. Mr. Asquith said that at the beginning of the war he believed it was possible to restore the status of the two South African republics, but that he was now a reluctant convert to the necessity of annexation. He looked forward, hopefully, to the time when these distractions would be ended, and said that they all worked unitedly for Liberal reform and progress.

By his trenchant speech Mr. Asquith achieved the complete severance of the two wings of the Liberal party. This was done to the great joy of the Conservatives, whose press organs can not find words sufficient to applaud his courage and honesty. The press is of the opinion that the party leaders will find greater difficulty than ever in discovering who is the real leader of the party.

It may safely be predicted that Mr. Asquith will find a very large following both among the Liberal members of the house of commons and the country generally.

Armed Guards

Blocked the Entrance to the Mines

And Were Ordered to Shoot When Union Men Attempted to Enter.

Two Men Were Fatally Injured and Strikers Withdrew for Reinforcements—Serious Trouble Feared.

Mateawan, W. Va., June 21.—The trouble long anticipated has come, and the strained relations between the union and nonunion miners resulted in bloodshed.

Several hundred union miners, who were on strike, marched in a body against the Marquette mines of this place, where nonunion men were at work. They tried to effect an entrance but the operators, with 20 guards armed with winchesters behind them, blocked the entrance.

The nonunion miners were headed by Superintendent Lambert, and when the previously warned union men persisted in their attempt, he gave the command to fire. Fully 50 shots were fired. Boyd Martin and Riley Johnson were fatally shot, and Sam Artip was dangerously wounded. The union men did not return the fire, but dispersed, waiting reinforcements and swearing vengeance.

All the union miners throughout Mingo will try to get here, and serious trouble is expected. Sheriff Hatfield, a nephew of the famous "Cap" Hatfield, is on the scene with 50 deputies, and says he proposes to do his duty. Unless the union men back down it is hard to predict the result.

Of the Two Negro Prisoners at Sheavepart.

The Victims Were Considered the Leaders of a Conspiracy Formed by Negroes Against the Whites.

MASONS

Benton, La., June 21.—There is little excitement here or at Shreveport over the lynching of the two negroes, Smith and McLand. It is claimed the two men were leaders of a secret order and had entered many conspiracies against the whites. Prince Edwards, the negro who killed John Gray Foster, is still at large, although every effort is being made to apprehend him. Unless Edwards is captured it is believed there will be no further violence offered the dozen or more negro prisoners confined in jail charged with complicity in the murder of Foster.

At St. Paul's Lutheran Church, Where Special Services Will be Held Sunday Morning.

The choir, in charge of H. W. Neff, has prepared special music for the occasion, including the Te Deum by the choros choir, and solos and duets by special artists. ## DON'T

Like Uncle Sam's Proposition

To Arbitrate

By Submitting Question to Russia.

Alaskan Boundary Dispute Between Uncle Sam and John Bull.

The Latter Now Wants the Question Submitted to a Tribunal of Three Disinterested Powers.

Ottawa, Ont., June 21.—The published report to the effect that the United States would offer to submit the Alaskan boundary claims to Russia for arbitration was called to the attention of Sir Wilfrid Laurier. He was asked if he would be willing to concur in such a proposition. "No such proposal has reached me as yet," replied Sir Wilfrid. "When a proposition is made my government will be ready to consider it."

"You were willing to submit the claims to arbitration when the joint high commission was sitting, were you not?" was asked. "Oh, yes," was the reply. The protocol laid before the house contains the offer of the British commissioners, citing that the commission having been unable to agree, it should be referred to arbitration. The articles are very lengthy but the proposal was that the tribunal consist of three, one on the part of Great Britain, one on the part of the United States and a third to be selected by these two.

The general opinion here is that Russia would not be satisfactory to Great Britain.

BRITISH BEATEN.

Quite Frequently On Account of Boers' Superior Marksmanship.

Washington, June 21.—Capt. Slocum, U. S. military attaché with the British in Boer war says that the British have been beaten often because of the superior marksmanship of the Boers. "Before the war" said Mr. Levy, "Johannesburg, had a population of 250,000 whites, and 300,000 blacks. Now it has less than 20,000 whites outside of the troops. The whites still remaining are obliged to stay, through poverty. Many are starving, and many are fed by the authorities. Business is at a standstill."

NEIGHBORS

Further details regarding the new government are yet to be worked out. ## HUNT

Is on in the Lone Star State.

A Bold Bandit

Wanted for the Killing of Two Sheriffs.

An Exciting Chase Made Across the Plains Toward the Border.

The Outlaw was Once Seen and was Forced to Abandon His Fagged Out Horse But He is Still at Large.

San Antonio, Tex., June 21.—Advices from Cotulla state that Gregorio Cortez, the alleged slayer of Sheriffs Morris and Glover, is within a few miles of Cotulla, but had not been captured. Tuesday information was received that the Mexican outlaw was headed toward Cotulla from Campbellton. That evening Sheriff Vann of Keer county, with his posse on a special train, arrived at Cotulla and was joined by Sheriff Hill and his posse. They went to Twibig and from there down the river to cut off Cortez's escape. Sheriff Kinzel wired Deputy Maltzberger that his posse was on a hot trail near Killeet and that Cortez had been seen but escaped. Maltzberger and W. C. Campbell struck his trail about five miles from Cotulla and followed him where he had cut several wire fences.

Bloodstains showed that Cortez's horse was about exhausted and unable to jump. The pursuing party found the little mare that Cortez had been riding. She was badly fagged. Cortez's trail then led into a dense thicket covering hundreds of acres. No trail was found leading from there and the bandit is supposed to be hiding in the thicket. A large posse, headed by Sheriffs Avant, Kinzel and others arrived at Cotulla by train and left for this thicket with strong hopes for the speedy capture of Cortez.

The horse found is undoubtedly the one ridden by Cortez, who came from near Tilden through the Dull, Irvin, O'Connor, Lane and Johnson ranches, cutting fences as he fled. The posse which sighted Cortez says his clothing was in tatters and he had thrown away his rifle, retaining only his pistols.

An additional posse of 20 men left this city for Cotulla by special train to aid in searching the thicket in which Cortez is thought to be. The party went heavily armed and took bloodhounds to send into the thicket to rout the outlaw. Cotulla is 90 miles from San Antonio and 50 miles from the Mexican border. The dogs were taken in response to an urgent message from that point.

Since the present serious condition of affairs in southwest Texas between bandits and the authorities began, three American officers and three Mexicans have been killed, six Mexicans wounded (one being a woman), and nine captured. The casualties have been as follows: June 12 Sheriff W. T. Morris of Karnes county, in attempting to arrest Mexicans charged with horsestealing, was killed, and one of his assailants was wounded. June 14, in attempting to arrest the alleged slayers of Sheriff Morris, in Gonzales county, Sheriff R. M. Glover and Constable Henry Schnabel were killed and three Mexicans were wounded, one being an aged woman, who was shot through both hips. The other two were men and were shot through the legs. These three are now in the San Antonio jail and stubbornly refuse to talk. June 15, at Odessa, one Mexican was killed while resisting arrest. June 16 a Mexican was killed at Belmont and another was wounded while resisting arrest. June 17 a party of rangers under Lieutenant Sanders, near Benavides, in a running fight killed one Mexican, wounded another and captured one.

A STORY OF BABYLON.

Reginald De Koven's Wife Has Just Published a Mystical Romance.

"By the Waters of Babylon" is the title of a strange, mystical, historical romance that has just been published by Mrs. Reginald De Koven, the wife of the popular composer of light operas. In some respects the novel promises to be the literary sensation of the season, for it is entirely different from any of the books that have preceded it in public favor.

According to Mrs. De Koven, "By the Waters of Babylon" has to do with the captive Jews and is a historical and archaeological story of a period never before used in romance. Its plot is made up of the historical material found in the ancient histories and in the mass of bas-relief and cuneiform tablets recovered from the ruins of the buried cities of Babylon and Assyria. But it seems to be dramatic in its treatment, and the information is always subordinated to the interests of the plot. "By the Waters of Babylon" is not, therefore, a mere stirring up of dry historical bones, but a living, breathing tale of human interest and dramatic intensity.

Mrs. De Koven has been collecting material for her novel for a number of years and has had the assistance of some of the leading archaeologists of America in her researches. "This is her first venture in authorship. Several years ago she published a novel called 'A Savant's Doll.' She has also made a translation of one of Pierre Loti's novels that has gained great praise for its literary excellence.

Before her marriage to Mr. De Koven the author of "By the Waters of Babylon" was one of the leading society belles of Chicago. They were wedded in 1887. Mrs. De Koven was born in Chicago and is the eldest of the three beautiful daughters of ex-Senator Charles B. Farwell. She has had the advantage of the highest education and of foreign travel and is a woman of rare brilliancy. Until a short time ago the De Kovens lived in New York. Their home was distinguished as the gathering place of a coterie of some of the most brilliant minds of Gotham's literary, artistic and musical circles. The composer of "Robin Hood" and his wife now reside in Washington, where they are equally popular.

AN HONORED AMERICAN.

Siam Chooses a Yankee to Represent Her in the Arbitration Court.

To an American has been given the honor of representing Siam at the international court of arbitration. The American thus distinguished is Frederick W. Holls of New York. At the present time Mr. Holls is engaged in a sightseeing tour of Europe.

Mr. Holls will be remembered as the secretary of the American delegation to the peace conference held at The Hague in 1899. One of the results of that meeting was the establishment of a permanent court of arbitration. It is to this that Mr. Holls is to act as Siam's delegate.

Frederick William Holls is a lawyer by profession, but he has also gained labrets as a scholar, an author and a traveler. He is a native of Pennsylvania and is 44 years old. He was educated at Columbia university and in the Columbia Law school. In 1898 Mr. Holls was admitted to the New York bar, and he has been in active practice since.

LATE POTATOES.

Bugs Don't Trouble Them and Fall Rain Makes Them Larger.

We think it always best to plow early for late potatoes and then work frequently to kill weeds and conserve moisture and warm up the ground and then not plant until about the middle of June. The seed will have to be looked after to keep it from sprouting. This can be done by spreading it out thinly in a light place and shoveling it over about twice a week. It will wilt and shrivel up some, but this won't hurt it. It can be cut a few days before planting if kept dry and protected from the sun.

If you have no regular potato planter, furrow out deep with a shovel plow and cover with something drawn by the team. If the sun shines hot, the seed should be covered as fast as dropped, for the hot sun will soon injure it as it lies in the furrows. Run the barrow over the patch once or twice before the vines come up, and you will get rid of nearly all weeds.

The potatoes will come up in about a week if the weather is warm and the ground damp and continue to grow from the start. Planting at this time of the year will bring it out of season for the first crop of bugs, and by the time the second crop comes on the vines will not be much more than a rank weed, as they don't seem to be just suited to their taste.

The vines will be small without any tubers on them in the dry part of the season, and by the time fall rains come the potatoes will be formed and large enough to require all the moisture there is likely to be, and they will grow very rapidly. They should not be dug until the vines are killed by the frost, and it is always best to let them remain in the ground for some time after, as they will ripen up and be of better quality. They should be dug before too hard freezing, and before the ground becomes soft and muddy. Your judgment must be used in these things.

If not matted, they can be piled up without waiting for them to dry and stored as fast as dug. It won't hurt them to store when damp, as they always have to go through the sweat when stored in large piles, concludes I. U. Cowdrey of Michigan, writing to Ohio Farmer.

THE HORSE TO RAISE.

The One Par Excellence For the Farmer—Always Has Big Value.

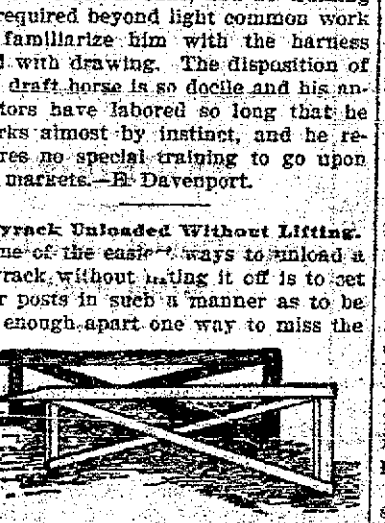

Drift horses of good form sell almost according to weight, except that as weights increase prices rise at a much greater ratio, so that extreme weights bring enormous prices if only the horse is satisfactory. Prices range from $125 to $300, with an occasional one higher and with an increase of about 10 per cent when matched in teams. These prices are sometimes exceeded, and dealers insist that prices were never so low that a span of draft horses would not bring $500 if only they were good enough.

This is par excellence the horse for the farmer to raise. Only the blood of the best draft breeds and the heaviest and best boned stallions is suitable. Even then the demand for extreme weights necessitates the use of large mares that are good milkers. In no other way can costs be produced with sufficient bone and feeding quality to attain the size and finish demanded by the markets. Even then the youngster must be supplied with the best of feed in large amounts from the very first. Plenty of good pasture, clover, hay, oats and corn is imperative, and there is no better feed for young horses than green corn cut from the field and fed whole. Only the best blood should be used, and then every effort must be made to keep the horse gaining from the first if he is to top the market.

All this is much like growing beef, and these are the horses to produce on the farms. They can be produced nowhere else to advantage, and when it is remembered that the draft horse is really the highest priced standard horse in the market it is easy enough to see what horse the farmer should raise. He not only sells for more average money, but if bred with the same care there are fewer culls, and no training is required beyond light common work to familiarize him with the harness and with drawing. The disposition of the draft horse is so docile and his ancestors have labored so long that he works almost by instinct, and he requires no special training to go upon the markets.—B. Davenport.

running gears of the wagon and far enough apart the other to hold a 16 foot rack.

Top boards are nailed to the posts. These are pointed at one end and by driving through between the two panels the rack is lifted from the wagon, being gradually raised as the wagon passes along.

Nutrition In Short Grass.

Such dry seasons as that of 1900 seem not to be so disastrous to the stock industry as might be expected. The short, dry grass produced in such seasons is apparently more nutritious than the longer, softer grass of wet seasons, and stock keeps in better condition when supplied with large quantities of the tall, soft grass. The chief fear of the stock grower in dry seasons is that he will not be able to cut sufficient quantities of hay for winter feeding.

PETTIGREW ON TOP.

HAS FOLLOWED UP POLITICAL FAILURE WITH FINANCIAL SUCCESS.

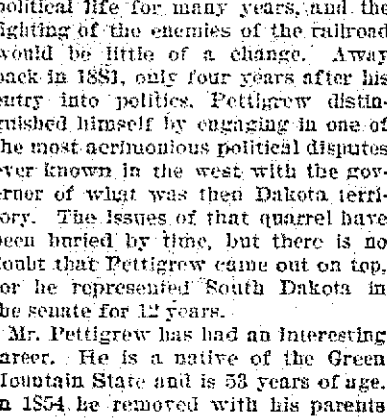

South Dakota's Ex-Senator Is to Be Legal Head of the Great Northern. Has Made Many Thousands in Oil and Stocks—His Varied Career.

That a man may be dead politically and yet be much of a live personality in other ways is amply proved by the recent experiences of Richard F. Pettigrew, until March 4 a senator of the United States from South Dakota. Although Senator Pettigrew had been engaged in the changeable game of politics for a quarter of a century, he had blazed out of his party in 1901 by his openly expressed criticism of the administration, and it is safe to hazard the prediction that, politically speaking, he will remain "dead." But financially Pettigrew is not defunct by a very great deal.

According to recent reports, ex-Senator Pettigrew has amassed a considerable fortune, estimated at several hundreds of thousands, in the booming Texas oilfields. Another report credits him with being on the safe side of the recent Northern Pacific flurry in Wall street, and still others have it that more investments of his have proved exceedingly profitable. The most interesting report of all, however, is the one that Jim Hill, the astute president of the Great Northern and other railroads, has selected ex-Senator Pettigrew to be the head of the legal department of that road. It is a position that requires not alone great legal skill, but also a far-reaching acquaintance with railroad matters and with the northwest of the United States.

All of these qualifications and a number of others that are likely to prove of use to him are possessed by Mr. Pettigrew. For one thing his life as a fighter is scarcely to be found even in the west. He has led a very strenuous political life for many years, and the fighting of the enemies of the railroad would be little of a change. Away back in 1881, only four years after his entry into politics, Pettigrew distinguished himself by engaging in one of the most acrimonious political disputes ever known in the west with the governor of what was then Dakota territory. The issues of that quarrel have been buried by time, but there is no doubt that Pettigrew came out on top, for he represented South Dakota in the senate for 12 years.

Mr. Pettigrew has had an interesting career. He is a native of the Green Mountain State and is 53 years of age. In 1854 he removed with his parents to Evansville, Wis., at the academy of which place he studied. At an early age Pettigrew was compelled to engage in severe labor, but found time to prepare for and enter Beloit college. The death of his father, however, changed his plans, and he had to return home to care for his family. His first employment by the government was as laborer for a United States deputy surveyor. In the intervals of work young Pettigrew studied law at the University of Wisconsin, and in 1870 he was admitted to the Wisconsin bar.

As a surveyor's assistant the future senator had traversed South Dakota, and he decided to make his future home in that section. In 1870 he went to Sioux Falls, getting there with very little money, but with a great belief in the future of the place. Senator Pettigrew built the first frame house in Sioux Falls, carting the lumber for it 90 miles. Part of the way he carried it on his back. He engaged in the real estate business. In the South Dakota metropolis, opening his law office there in 1872. Fortune smiled on him, and even before his recent successful coup he had gained a comfortable fortune. He held a number of minor offices before his election to the senate in 1889. He has also at various times before the present been "out of politics."

Many stories are told in his own state and in Washington of Pettigrew's characteristics. He is credited with a good heart, as is evidenced by the following story. It is said that several years ago Pettigrew heard that a young newspaper man who had spoken kindly to him while Pettigrew was new to the capital city was in financial distress. Pettigrew wrote him a letter from Sioux Falls, saying: "I am informed that you are hard up. If this is true, please do me the kindness to draw on me at sight for $100." The newspaper man was glad to do so. Later, recovering his health and money, he sent his check to the senator for the amount advanced. Pettigrew returned the check saying: "I never had any business transactions with you. You owe me nothing, and I cannot accept this check."

You see in no place of conversation the perfection of speech so much as in accomplished women.—Steele.

JACK CHINN IS TEETOTAL.

Not a Drink For Three Months—Never Again—Quit to Oblivize His Wife.

The Hon. John P. Chinn, otherwise known as Jack Chinn, at one time a member of the Goebel state central committee for the eighth congress district of Kentucky, arrived at the Hoffman House the other night, says the New York Sun. Colonel Chinn is a bowie knife fame, a turban, race horse starter and Silver Democratic politician. Colonel Chinn always stops at the Hoffman House when he is in town. When Goebel was shot in Frankfort, he fell into the arms of Jack Chinn, who was walking by his side.

Colonel Chinn deprecated at the time the use of a bullet. He had frequently given open expression to the opinion that "except under extraordinary circumstances where attack or defense must necessarily be made from a distance a gun or a pistol is the weapon of a coward and that a knife is the emblem of gentlemanly courage." He has the shoulders of an ox. He is one of the most picturesque products of Kentucky life and one of the best known characters on the American turf. He carries a stick on which are 12 notches, described as representing the fate of enemies he has met with the bowie knife.

Colonel Chinn was asked by his friends to drink the other night, and they all congregated at the bar. "Seltzer," said Colonel Chinn when his time came to acknowledge the hospitality, and while all the others took what they wanted, he told this little story, which he said there was no objection to print:

"All the trouble I ever had in my life came through whisky. In my early days I started with beer, and at various stages of the game I tackled champagne, and then we went on to brandy and whisky, and sometimes it would take a week or two to straighten your humble servant out. Three months ago a little lady down in Kentucky (my wife, if you please, gentlemen) suggested that I had had about all the fun that was necessary in this life, and she asked me not to drink any more. I have regarded her wishes ever since, and I shall never take another drink as long as I am alive. Let all the boys have all the fun they can get out of whisky. There's nothing in it."

There wasn't a man in the crowd who insisted upon his taking anything more than seltzer water.

NEW INDUSTRIAL TOWN.

Indiana Harbor Name of the New Erick Steel Center.

Indiana Harbor is to be the name of a new industrial town on the shore of Lake Michigan just north of East Chicago, says the New York Times. It is to be built and developed as rapidly as the wealthy men back of it can press the work. The Lake Michigan Land company, the Calumet Canal and Improvement company and H. C. Erick, formerly of the Carnegie steel industries, are the principal investors. Their plans have been held in abeyance for several years in an effort they made to get the state of Indiana to build a canal to connect the Calumet river and lake.

Mr. Erick bought 300 acres of land fronting on the lake three years ago. At that time he was having his disagreement with Mr. Carnegie which led to his retirement from the company. The Inland Steel company has 50 acres on the line of the proposed canal and promises to build there a steel plant to cost $1,000,000, of which amount $1,000,000 is to be spent this year.

The Lake Shore road has agreed to build a passenger station at the Harbor to cost $150,000. The Lake Michigan company has 1,300 acres and the Calumet company 5,000 acres of land. Roads are being laid out on it, drainage systems are being put in, and waterworks and electric light plants come next. Four hundred houses for workmen are included in the plans. All of the eastern trunk lines pass through this territory. The belt line is convenient, and in addition to excellent freight facilities it is promised there will be a passenger service of only 45 minutes from down town Chicago to the new town.

NOVEL WOMEN'S CLUB.

Gossips and Users of slang Words Named at Maytag.

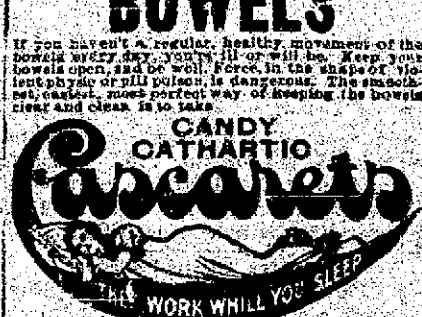

Maytown, near Lancaster, Pa., has a novel organization of women, says the Philadelphia Press. It is called the "Philly Club," and its members are all married. Any member of the club who is found using slang is fined 25 cents. If she uses it at a meeting, she is fined. At every meeting the hostess must provide a lunch to include three certain dishes. If they are missing, a fine is imposed. The fines, collected are placed in the treasury, and when there is a sufficient sum a banquet is given the husbands of the members.

Kansas Wheat For France.
The enormous wheat crop in Kansas and Oklahoma is bringing grain buyers of foreign countries to Kansas, says a Topeka dispatch to the New York Sun. Alon and Jean Goldschmidt, importers of Paris, came recently to negotiate for shipments. They declare that there is little promise of a big wheat crop in France this year, and France always turns to the United States when her own crop is short. Kansas wheat is famous in France for good flour. It is the product of Russian seed, but the wheat of Russia does not compare with the Kansas product. The French importers will arrange for shipping by way of the gulf of Mexico.

A marked copy of the Lincoln Democrat, published at Stanford, Ky., sets forth some reasons why that region hopes to do business in oil production and its accessories. As recent developments have stimulated inquiries as to Kentucky and Tennessee territory, the Democrat article is produced below. The editors of the Democrat are Messrs. T. M. Goodnight and Joe F. Waters, who will doubtless be glad to answer any questions the article suggests:

"It seems incredible that men will doubt that the town of Stanford and vicinity are located right over great deposits of oil and gas, which if properly developed, would bring untold wealth to our people. Nature has tried in numberless ways to demonstrate this fact to us. Instead of coming to us in vague and uncertain ways she has fairly flouted the fact in our faces, and has invited us in the most seductive manner to at least give her a chance to show what she has concealed in the hidden chambers beneath us. Let us enumerate a few of the evidences that have been given us of the truth of the above: Between six and seven years ago the Stanford Water, Light & Ice Co., became apprehensive lest their supply of water should be insufficient. In order to provide against such emergency, they proceeded to bore several wells near their plant. At the depth of 110 feet they struck a fine flow of natural gas. So pleased were the company with the evidences they had they purchased 700 feet of 2-inch pipe and had a line, but on account of imperfect casing the flow became obstructed and the panic coming on, the attention of the company was diverted and the matter was allowed to be laid over for the time being. We are told, however, that the company secured the right to test the matter further at their option.

On John Hays place, a mile or more west of town, is an old well, which yields almost pure petroleum. Three miles south of town is a body of swampy land which during the summer months has pools of water standing on it from which oil can be skimmed with the hand. On the corner of Court House Square opposite Warren & Shanks store, forty years ago, was a well of the finest sulphur water. It became in time so strongly impregnated with petroleum as to be unfit for use and was filled up. Mr. J. R. Alford, about 25 years ago, had a contract to build culverts and put in sewers on our streets. He quarried rock near the upheaval in town branch spoken of above and says he took out a great many rocks which had deposits of oil in them and which he readily burned when placed in fire. These are only a few of the surface evidences; we could name dozens, and will cite a few more. Sixty or seventy years ago, the road between Stanford and Manchester, in Clay county, was rougher than that from Jerusalem to Jericho, and many times longer. But at Manchester was located the Goose Creek Salt Works, which yielded a product which if not worth its weight in gold, was in wheat, and salt the people had to have. "Old man Archy Shanks, a unique character in his day, conceived the idea that by boring a well on Green river, he would strike salt water. Some one asked him how deep he expected to go. His answer was, "I will go on until I strike salt, or hear the chickens crow in hell." No such thing as petroleum, or coal oil, had been heard of at that time. He went down several hundred feet and was surprised and disappointed one day when a great volume of thick dark fluid came boiling out of his well. This ran down into the river, near by, and covered its surface for miles. By some means it became ignited and burnt for many weeks. The old man left the place in disgust, saying he had "started a hell of his own." In time the flames were smothered out, but still the dark fluid continued to flow. Some suggested that it was Nature's own remedy for the ills of man and beast and parties began bottling it and selling it as "Rock Oil." It was used internally and externally, and Mr. J. R. Alford, of this place, says he sold a great deal of it. He had it put up in bottles, 13 to a gallon, which readily brought 50 cents each.

Annual Convention of the W.
F. M. S. Has Closed

And the Delphos People are to be Congratulated for Their Display of Warm Hospitality.

The annual session of the Woman's Foreign Missionary Society, of Lima district, has closed at Delphos and the meeting next year will be held in this city at Grace M. E. church.

The session Wednesday afternoon, according to the account in the Delphos Herald, was opened with prayer service, led by Spencerville Auxiliary. A quartette from Grace church, Lima, gave rendition to a song and the address of welcome was voiced by Miss Alice Cowan. Response was given by Mrs. John Chivington, of Mercer. A very interesting paper on "Our 20th Century Offering," was read by Mrs. Rev. Figley, of Lima. Miss Pearl Mitchell, of Lima, had a paper on young peoples' work, and a song was given by Miss Shimp, of Celina. Miss Edna Cowden also sang a solo. Mrs. Harford, of Spencerville, gave a recitation and was followed by Mrs. Walton, of Rockford, with a talk of mite boxes. "Our Little Light Bearers" was the subject for remarks or Mrs. VanArsdale, of Lima. The report of Mrs. J. N. Bailey, of Spencerville, as Corresponding Secretary, showed the condition of the work. They were pledged for $800, but during the year raised over $1,000.

Wednesday evening, after scripture reading by the Van Wert Auxiliary, there was prayer by Mrs. Harner, of Van Wert. Upon the head of "An Evening With China," Mrs. M. A. Marsh, of Delphos, had a paper. Mrs. Longworth, of Van Wert, spoke on China's past, Miss Benton, of Van Wert, on China's literature, and Mrs. Harriet Smith, of Van Wert, on the women of the Orient. A duet was given by Mrs. Black and Mrs. Wells, of Lima. China's present was spoken about by Mrs. Zimmerman, of Van Wert. A recitation was given by Miss Herring, of Elida.

At yesterday morning's session praise service was led by the Delphos Auxiliary and Mrs. Beckman, of Elida, had a paper on "Our Library." A worker's conference was had on "How to Increase Our Membership," "How to Increase Our Offerings," "How to Circulate Our Literature," "How to Make Interesting Programs for Auxiliary Meetings." New officers were elected as follows:

President—Mrs. George Hall, Lima.

Vice President—Mrs. Wm. Davis, Middle Point.

Cor. Sec.—Mrs. A. E. Harford, Spencerville.

Rec. Sec.—Mrs. Adelaide Post, Spencerville.

Treasurer—Mrs. Nicodemis, Salem.

Branch Delegate—Mrs. M. E. Longworth, Delphos.

Alternate—Mrs. Chas. Daniels, Delphos.

The reports of committees wound up the business of the convention this afternoon and some of the delegates did not arrive until the convention was nearly over. Resolutions were adopted. The next convention will be held at Grace church in Lima the third week in October of 1902, instead of in June, as heretofore.

The visitors were nicely entertained by the Delphos ladies. Meals were served in the basement of the church.

A man in North Carolina was selling standing timber—walnut trees. The man who was buying came to one very handsome tree. He told the owner he would pay as much as $50 for that tree. The owner did not sell, but sent for experts. He got $1,000 for the tree (curled walnut) as it stood. The man who cut it down realized $3,000 for it on the cars. It was shipped to New York and rendered one-sixth to half an inch. The tree brought $50,000.

PAID

A Dear Price for His Carelessness.

An Unusual Charge Against John Flower Which Cost a Tidy Sum.

John Flower, a driver of a team used for hauling timber for the electric railway company, was fined $10 and costs by Justice Duffield yesterday for driving into and crushing a wheel of a buggy driven by G. B. Ewing. Mr. Ewing claimed that the point on the road near the children's home where Flower attempted to pass him is wide enough for three vehicles to drive side by side, and although he drew over until his buggy was almost in the ditch, Flower apparently made no effort to avoid an accident.

Attorney Eldenour prosecuted the case in which Flower was charged with malicious destruction of property and he was defended by Goeke, of Wapakoneta, and attorney Hersh, of Lima. The defendant settled the fine and costs, which amounted to about $27. The damage to the vehicle was $3, but there has been no action to recover damages. Two livermen, of Lima testified to having witnessed the incident and both say that men driving heavy wagons loaded with off supplies and other weighty materials do not attempt to divide the road with other travelers.

DEGREE

Of Ph. D. is Conferred Upon Prof. Ackermann.

Unsolicited Honor Accorded by the Trustees of the Capital University at Columbus.

Prof. Carl Ackerman, Dean of the faculty of Lima College, received information from Columbus last evening concerning an honor that had been conferred upon him by the trustees of the Capital University. The thirty-seventh annual commencement exercises of the university were held Wednesday evening and at the close the secretary of the faculty announced that the trustees had conferred the degree of Ph. D. upon Prof. Ackerman. The honor was wholly unsolicited and demonstrates the fact that the ability of the Dean of Lima College is recognized among the leading educators of the state.

LIMA

Man is Considered Strong

As a Candidate

For the Nomination for Governor.

Popularity of Hon. Walter B. Richie is Recognized Everywhere.

It is Considered Quite Within the Possibilities That He be Placed in the Field as a Dark Horse.

The Commercial Tribune publishes the following from Columbus: It is quite within the possibilities that Walter B. Richie, of Lima, who was the abject of the political attentions of the late Senator Calvin S. Brice, will be brought out as a dark horse for governor at the Democratic state convention.

Richie is not the only dark horse mentioned. Judge Abe Patrick, who would be a most attractive candidate today were it not for his feeling that he had reached too great an age to undertake an arduous campaign, urged Congressman James A. Norton to enter the race. Dr. Norton emphatically declined, but that he was approached on the subject at all is a bit of evidence showing the feeling against Colonel Kilbourne, the leading candidate, is growing, and that a hunt for a new candidate is in progress.

John L. Zimmerman, the Springfield candidate, came here to witness the dedication of the new home of the Columbus Elks, and talked of his candidacy in the hazy and indefinite way to which newspaper readers of his interviews have become accustomed.

Those opponents of Kilbourne who are not in alliance with Tom Johnson, and whose work is going on in secret, still doubt the probability of the opposition uniting on Zimmerman. Nor do these men regard Kilbourne's organization as too strong to be beaten, in spite of his immense lead in the number of instructed candidates. They say this organization looks very pretty on paper, but it is not ironclad or even coherent. These men ought to know, for some of them are nominally enlisted in the Kilbourne ranks. They are intimately acquainted with Colonel Kilbourne, yet they believe he is not the man to make a winning campaign. They recognize the existence of a strong sentiment for him throughout the state, but assert that this sentiment is without substantial basis. They doubt his ability to do himself good in a speaking campaign.

This opposition may or may not materialize in the convention. It is not disposed to play with Tom Johnson, or will it be against Kilbourne, unless the eve of the convention finds the Columbus candidate too strong to be tackled. If the Kilbourne lines are not drawn tant and if the arithmetic of Colonel William A. Taylor, the Kilbourne prophet, is found to be in error, Walter Richie may be sprung. He is wonderfully strong in the old Brice stronghold, the Northwest. He secretly but effectively worked for McLean's nomination two years ago, and McLean could not afford to affect to have forgotten this service.

The secret opposition to Kilbourne is keeping all its eyes fixed on the struggle between Kilbourne and Lentz to organize the Franklin county central committee on Saturday. Should it be heralded throughout the state that Kilbourne had been unable to control his own county organization, this opposition will feel safe in coming out into the open, and attacks on the Kilbourne forces will be made all along the line.

ILLNESS

Dates from the Arrest of the Aged Man.

Typhoid Fever Said to Have Resulted from Exposure and Caused Leichty's Death.

Six months or more ago Christian Leichty, an old man living near Bluffton was arrested under orders from the Humane society and brought here to answer to the charge of not providing for his aged mother. He was later dismissed. In connection with that incident the following notice of Leichty's death in the Bluffton Tri-County Weekly is of interest:

"Christian Leichty, a well known farmer, died at his home Friday, June 13, 1901, at the advanced age of 71 years. Funeral service was held at the Ebenezer church Saturday at two o'clock. Mr. Leichty was a native of Switzerland and came to this country at an early age with his parents. He never was married and lived with his parents until they died. His father having died a number of years ago, and his mother died February 20, 1901. Ever since Mr. Leichty was taken to the lockup at Lima, by the humane society for not providing for his aged mother last spring, has been in ill health, until he took typhoid fever which ended his life. Mr. Leichty was kind and generous and was well respected by his neighbors, and he did as he knew best to provide for his aged mother, and had it not been for the humane society's disgraceful act, he might be living yet."

abscess of the brain. He was taken

St. Louis county, New York, on 13, 1865, where he remained until when he came to St. John, Ohio, where he was employed by the government as a pension agent. It was here that he met and in 1890 married Miss Herring, daughter of the late Herring, who with her two sons, Paul aged 9, and Helen, still survive him. In 1896, he with his family, he came to where he has remained ever since in the employ of the government for several years as spec-

Allen Hive Gives a Lawn Social.

Last night Allen Hive No. 197, Ladies of the Maccabees, gave a very successful lawn fete at the home of Sir Knight James Hoffman, 111 West
Vine street, last evening. Notwithand the affair was thoroughly enjoyed.

Brand Whitlock a Candidate.

Concerning Brand Whitlock, son of Rev. Whitlock, who was formerly pastor of Trinity M. E. church, in this city, the Toledo Blade says:
"Mr. Whitlock, who is a candidate for the Democratic nomination for state senator, is making an active campaign for the place, and it is said to be backed by the strength of Mr. Cochran and the local controllers of the party.
This has given his confidence in his chances of success, and inspired his friends with the belief that he cannot be beaten."

The Spencerville Boy Again.

A father going to his stable one day last week found his little son stride one of the horses with a slate and pencil in his hand. "Why, Harry," he exclaimed, "What are you doing?"
"Writing a composition," was the reply. "Well, why don't you write in the house?" "Because," answered the little fellow, "the teacher told me to write a composition on a horse."

Who Will Pass It Up?

When a pretty girl pins a flower on a young man's coat, she always blits her chin up and looks at it sideways,

SUNDAY

Funerals Must be AbandonedIs the Order Issued by the Cemetery Board.

The New Rule Goes Into Effect on July 1st, But It Does Not Include Cases Where Disease was Contagious.

After July 1st, there will be no Sunday funerals in Lima unless the deceased has been the victim of a contagious disease, which would make it necessary to put the remains away with as little delay as necessary.
Other exceptions are made when a Sunday burial is proposed to comply with certain sanitary regulations.
This new condition of affairs is the result of an understanding between the ministers, the undertakers and others, whose presence is made necessary attending a burial, and when the matter came up before the cemetery board, it was agreed that the demand for the discontinuance of funerals on the Sabbath day was one which should be acceded to. Accordingly the board has issued an order to that effect and hereafter there will be no burials in Woodlawn cemetery on Sunday, except under the conditions named above.

My back was sore to the touch, so much, so at times that I could not rest nights and rose in the morning feeling tired and worn out. The kidney secretions became unnatural and distressing. ### CHAIR TO STUDY CHINESE Minister Wu's Opinion of Columbia University's Experiment.

GREATLY PLEASED WITH THE IDEA

Advantages to Be Gained by America and China—Carrying Out of the Project—Some Difficulties and How to Surmount Them, as Explained by the Diplomat.

Wu Ting Kang, the Chinese minister, is keenly interested in the proposed new Chinese department in Columbia university, for which the "Dean Lung fund" of $100,000 has been given by an anonymous benefactor. He informed the New York Post's Washington correspondent when questioned on the subject that he had no idea who had given the fund, and expressed some wonder whether it might not have been a merchant who had grown rich in China trade, possibly an old friend of President Low's father. "It is to be assumed that he is an old man," Mr. Wu explained, with a whimsical smile. "For, if you notice, he says he saved the money from cigars and champagne."

"I am glad that the chair is to be established," he added. "I have often told President Low that he had unnecessary reasons for establishing such a department at Columbia."

"It makes not so much difference where the chair is established, whether at New York or Philadelphia. The great thing is to have the American people brought thus into closer contact with their Chinese contemporaries. Three universities in England, if I mistake not, have Chinese departments. That at Oxford is the oldest and best known."

"The English are somewhat ahead of the Americans, you see, in this matter. That is natural, England's commercial relations with China having been so intimate and for so long a period, but now it should be the pride of the United States to outstrip her in a good cause. Your people have expanded their commerce with China to such an extent that you cannot afford to take any but the first place among the stranger nations represented there."

"What would be your idea of organizing the department at Columbia? Would you put it into the charge of a Chinese or an English speaking scholar?" the correspondent inquired.

"The ideal arrangement would be to have a Chinese scholar in charge. No one but a Chinese really knows the Chinese. Without any intent to disparage the excellent foreign writers who have visited China or lived there and given their countrymen the benefit of their observations I am bound to say that there is not one to whom I, for instance, could not tell things about the people and the country which would be entirely new to him. Now, our literature is full of the spirit, manners and traditions of the people. To read it understandingly you have got to know the people so well that every allusion will be as an open book to your mind. Conversely, in order to understand the people thoroughly, you have got to know their literature. Here is the most of the difficulty in filling the Chinese chair satisfactorily. If you fill it with the finest Chinese native scholar, he will be unable to make himself understood by his classes at his lectures, for he will have no command of the English tongue. If, on the other hand, you fill it with an American or an Englishman, who is never so accomplished as a student of Chinese, you will find yourself with a teacher who can give you only the shell of the learning you wish to get and not the rich meat."

"Do you mean that there are no native Chinese scholars competent to fill such a chair as Columbia's acceptably who can use the English language with the same fluency that you do, for example?"

The minister seemed much amused. "I mean that if a man devotes his life to acquiring the rich stores of Chinese learning which such a professor ought to have mastered he will have no time to learn English too."

"Then how would it do to have two professors, one Chinese and the other English, the English professor understanding the Chinese language and acting as the medium through whom the Chinese lecturer communicates with his pupils?"

"That was a point I was coming to. Each professor would supply what the other lacked. I have a notion that such an arrangement would solve the most serious of the intellectual problems involved. But there will be another problem to solve before this one is reached."

"And that is?"

"To get the necessary money. The Dean Lung fund is only $100,000, according to the newspapers. Do you realize that this principal, which of course cannot be touched, will bear at 3 per cent an annual income of only $3,000? You could not pay the salaries of two scholars out of that. But your country is full of rich and benevolent men. There ought to be no great trouble about having the fund increased as time goes on."

"The impression prevails that there are so many dialects in the Chinese tongue," suggested your correspondent, "that it would take a lifetime for an American student to make himself familiar with enough of the language as a whole to be of practical benefit to him."

"That is too broad a statement founded upon an essential misconception. Let me explain. The Chinese written language is a thing in itself. There is only one. It is universal. By this I mean that no matter what dialect you speak the written language conveys the same ideas to you. Let us suppose that I have come from Nankin and you from Canton. We are both common people, but we can read. If we attempted to talk to each other, I could not make you understand my remarks. But if I were to write them to you in a letter you would understand them perfectly. If I were to read aloud from a book to you, the Chinese laundymen in this city, he could probably make nothing out of it. If I were to give him the book, however, he could read it in his own dialect just as I had read it in mine. The meaning of the characters would be the same to both of us. It would be simply the vocal expression that differed. The Chinese people have several wholly dissimilar dialects in their spoken tongue. The educated Chinese speaks the dialect of their district, just as the uneducated do. The terms used in the spoken dialect are colloquial. When a person wishes to use elegant language, he writes it, for all the finest ideas of the human mind find expression in the written characters."

"I see, though, what your question leads to. Although there are so many dialects, practically different languages, spoken in various parts of China, there is one dialect which so pervades most of the country that a man who speaks it can make himself understood among the commercial element and the well-to-do classes almost everywhere. I refer to the dialect of Nankin. You will find this spoken not only in the central part of China, where it has its home, but in the north and west and, indeed, in some parts of the south. There are probably only two or three provinces where it would be of no use. So you see that if Columbia were to teach the Chinese language of literature and for a spoken tongue the Nankinese she would equip her students pretty well."

"You consider, I believe, that there are substantial commercial advantages—I mean advantages measurable in dollars and cents as distinguished from the pleasures of intellectual research—to be got by an American through learning Chinese?"

"Beyond all question. Look among your own people, who are so much more ready than ours to take up with new things. Who is it, let me ask, of all the foreigners who settle among you who reap the rich rewards in business? Is it the alien who comes here and remains an alien in language as well as in nationality, or is it he who acquires the language of your people and studies their ways and adapts himself to them as he can only after having first mastered their speech? You cannot become intimate with a people and command their confidence in the way which will do most to promote trade till you can address them in their own tongue. That is the mere commercial view. When it comes to diplomacy, I need not tell you what a power lies in the command of the vernacular."

MOZART'S SKULL LOST.

Curious Story of Its Discovery in 1801 and Its Disappearance in 1901.

The skull of Mozart, or what was believed to be his skull, seems to have disappeared. The late Professor Hyrtl of the Vienna university used to keep in his study a skull which he firmly believed to have been Mozart's, having inherited it in 1808 from his brother Jacob, an engraver.

Herr Jacob Hyrtl received it from the son of the gravedigger of the St. Marx cemetery, who in 1801, when a common grave was reopened, recognized the shell in which he buried Mozart in 1791, took out the skull of the great composer, kept it and bequeathed it as a relic to his son.

These details were communicated in 1875 by Professor Hyrtl to the Fremdenblatt, and it is this paper which now reports the disappearance of the skull. It was believed to be in the Mozart house in Salzburg, to which Professor Hyrtl bequeathed it in his will, but it is not there.

The professor's executor, Herr Schoffel, the deputy, replying to a question asked by the burgomaster of Salzburg, has stated that he knows nothing of the skull. The Fremdenblatt expresses doubts whether the relic will ever reach the Salzburg Mozartreum.

MEMORIAL TO JENNIE WADE

She Was Killed While Cooking For Soldiers at Gettysburg.

The order has been given for the immediate erection of a handsome monument on the battlefield of Gettysburg to the memory of Jennie Wade, says a dispatch from Des Moines to the Philadelphia Press. It will be erected by the Women's Relief corps of Iowa, and it is expected that the monument will be ready for unveiling in September, soon after the meeting of the national encampment at Cleveland.

Jennie Wade was a young woman who was visiting at the home of her sister in Gettysburg when the battle commenced. Her fiancé was in the Union army and was killed. She and her sister were in a large brick house almost within the Union lines. On the morning of the third day word came to the house that many of the soldiers were suffering from want of food, and the women set about making biscuits and bread for the soldiers. Jennie was engaged in this task when a gunshot came through the kitchen and killed her.

Collectors Take Bold of Domingo.

Samuel Abbott, secretary of the Santo Domingo syndicate, which has offices in New York, is authority for the statement that a number of recent graduates of some of the leading universities and colleges have secured an interest in concessions in Santo Domingo. According to him, these concessions cover railroad, plantation, timber, electric and mining rights and are said to be very liberal. Harvard, Yale, Princeton, Columbia, Cornell and Williams men are interested, says the New York Sun, and the college contingent in the enterprise will be represented in the commission to the island that will sail by July 1.

YALE'S BICENTENNIAL.

Complete Public Programme of Its Coming Spectacle.

NOVEL ADDITIONAL FEATURES.

Great Torchlight Procession of the Students to Be Held—Costumes to Be Worn by the Different Classes. Magnificent Open Air Fete at Night.

Complete plans made to date for the Yale Bicentennial next fall were announced recently. The celebration will commence on Sunday, Oct. 20, next, and last through the following Wednesday, says the New York Times. Undergraduate exercises will probably be abandoned for most if not all of the time, and the university will give itself up to the entertainment of its guests and to the carrying out of the programme.

Sunday—The Rev. J. H. Twichell, of the corporation will open the week with a special address in Battell chapel. There will also be special religious services in Center church and Trinity church, at which Yale choruses will perform. At 3 o'clock in the afternoon Dean George P. Fisher will speak in Battell chapel on "Yale in Its Relations to Christian Theology and Missions," and at 6 o'clock in the evening Professor Barry B. Jephson, the president of the university, will give a special organ recital in Battell chapel.

Monday, Oct. 21—At 10:30 a. m. Thomas Thacher of New York will speak in Battell chapel on "Yale in Its Relation to Law" and Professor William S. Welch of Johns Hopkins university on "Yale in Its Relation to Medicine." In the afternoon President Hylan of the university will give the address of welcome in Battell chapel, to which responses will be made. At 8 o'clock there will be a reception to graduates in the art school, and in the evening the corporation and graduates will participate in a torchlight procession.

Tuesday, Oct. 22—In the morning President Cyrus Northrup of the University of Minnesota will speak on "Yale in Its Relation to the Freshman of the Country," and ex-President Daniel C. Gilman of Johns Hopkins will speak on "Yale in Its Relation to Science and Letters." In the afternoon there will be a football match between the varsity team and a team of graduates. At 8 o'clock the grand society of New Haven will produce Professor H. W. Parker's "Hort Novissima" in the Hyperion theater, and in the evening the undergraduates will give a dramatic performance on the campus, to be followed by singing.

Wednesday, Oct. 23, Commencement Day—In the morning there will be a procession to the Hyperion, where Justice David Brewer of the United States supreme court will deliver an address. Mr. E. C. Stebbins of New York will read the commemorative poem, and the conferring of degrees will take place. In the afternoon the Boston Symphony orchestra will give a concert in the Hyperion, and the week will end with a farewell reception by President and Mrs. Hadley in the new Yvonne hall, which will be opened for the first time for that event.

Besides the public programme there will be a large number of other features of the celebration. Elaborate preparations for the literary and religious features of the celebration have been made.

An effort is being made to bring together in the Yale library for the occasion all the Yale memorabilia and historical relics available. There will be an exhibition of all the textbooks used at Yale since 1701, when the college was settled at Saybrook. There will also be an exhibition of relics of famous sons of Yale and an art collection of interest.

A distinctly picturesque feature will be furnished by the student body on Monday night, when the great torchlight procession will be held. The city as well as the campus will be illuminated. In the procession will be the youngest undergraduates and the oldest who can walk in the line and carry a torch. The great body of participants in this procession will be dressed for the occasion, and elaborate plans are in view for this. The line will be headed by the incoming senior class disguised as Indians to represent the conditions at New Haven a few years previous to the founding of the college. The Sheffield Scientific school seniors will follow, dressed as colonial settlers, in clocks and lat bats.

Following will come a regiment of Revolutionary soldiers dressed after the style of the soldiers who went from Connecticut to fight under Washington. Following them will come a detachment of men dressed to represent students in the war of 1812, with long coats and beaver hats. Later history will be represented by a troop of rough riders and the crew of the cruiser Yale.

Following the undergraduates will come the youngest living graduates of Yale, the present senior class dressed to represent a delegation from the Philippine bodyguard of Governor William H. Taft, 73. Following them will come the students of the various professional schools dressed to represent their professions in one way or another. Winding up the great procession, which will number over 8,000 men, will come the graduates in years of precedence, all dressed in caps and gowns. The student body will be permitted to include in the line as many jokers and farce frogs, etc., as desired.

The great student celebration, however, will come on Tuesday evening, Oct. 22, when an open air fete will be held on the campus. It is planned to erect an amphitheater on the present site of the treasury that will accommodate some 6,000 people. A stage is to be built at one end of the inclosure, where the Yale dramatic association will give a series of pantomime representations of various eras in Yale's history.

Some of these will be serious and others comic. The founding of the college, an old time "bread and butter riot," a fence rush and old time games will be represented. After the pantomime the audience will repair to the Fensce, where singing, led by a chorus of 400 undergraduates, will end the day.

His Dumps.

They were newly married and were calling upon one of the friends of the bride who had been particularly pleasant upon the occasion of their wedding. The bridegroom, apropos of nothing, began to talk about parenthood and told how his wife had discovered two very prominent bumps on the back of his head. He was proud of them. So was she, and she passed him around that the host and hostess might feel the bumps and know of their existence. Then she explained:

"My book on parenthood says that they mean good memory and generosity."

It was evident that she was proud of the facts, and so was he. But the host, being of an inquiring turn of mind, wished to satisfy himself, so he got down a phrenological work from one of his library shelves and after much labor found the bumps on the chart. Turning to the notes, he read, seriously at first, then unsteadily. The bride became suspicious, but she was game and said:

"Read it out loud. Please do!" And the host read:

"These bumps are most frequently found on rats and monkeys."

Other topics consumed the remainder of the visit, which was brief.—New York Sun.

GERMAN COLONIZATION.

Operations of a Syndicate Excites Much Attention.

GEOGRAPHERS' SIGNIFICANT WORK

Those in Berlin Have Already Begun to Print the Words "German Colonies" Across Maps of Southern Brazil—Favorite German Plan of Dividing Brazilian Territory.

Deep interest is felt at Washington in the news cable to the New York Herald the other day from Rio Janeiro that German colonization in the southern part of Brazil was to be augmented by the operations of a syndicate just formed, with a capital of $2,500,000.

The widespread discussion in the United States and Germany as to the intentions of the latter country in South America has aroused the attention of statesmen of the whole world. Whether German capital and enterprise are merely engaged in Brazil for the purpose of holding and developing German trade or whether this movement is the forerunner of an attempt to acquire territory under the German flag is the question, for all information that drifts to Washington from Brazil points to a steady growth of German influence.

It is mentioned as a significant fact that German geographers have already begun to print across their maps of southern Brazil the words "German colonies in Brazil." This of itself would not be significant were it not true that throughout the entire republic of Brazil German merchants, bankers, traveling salesmen, promoters and land speculators are continually discussing the prospect of a large portion of Brazilian territory ultimately passing under the German flag.

This has been openly discussed and has frequently been alluded to in German and Brazilian newspapers. Information that comes to Washington is that a favorite German plan is to divide Brazilian territory into three parts—the northern section to go to the United States, the middle eastern section to Great Britain and the southern section, where German influence and German population predominate, to Germany. Singularly enough, German subjects and persons of German descent are the only ones who discuss the dismemberment of Brazil.

They are apparently willing that the United States and Great Britain should each have a portion of the territory so long as Germany in the "break up" should get her much coveted foothold on the western hemisphere. This is the prevalent thought in the German mind in South America, and while the daring project probably has not even a semi-official sanction in Germany, the manner in which it is alluded to in Brazil has made a deep impression upon the minds of Americans who heard it recently in Brazil.

There are at present about 300,000 persons classed as Germans in Brazil. At least 250,000 of them are in the states of Parana, Santa Catharina and Rio Grande do Sul. A large portion of the remainder are in the states of Sao Paulo and Minas Geraes. In all these states German colonization schemes or projects are in operation.

Very large sums of money have been expended by German capitalists with a view to diverting immigration from the United States to Brazil, but the results have not been very encouraging considering the expense. German statistics report only 51,000 emigrants to Brazil from 1871 to 1899. This was due to the fact that the imperial government has sought to restrain rather than encourage emigration.

To offset this proposals were immediately invited for 20,000 immigrants, and the same year the state of Sao Paulo expended more than $300,000 in an endeavor to get 50,000 immigrants to settle there. The principal attempt at German colonization was originally made by the Colonization society of 1840, with headquarters in Hamburg. This was not a state project and was organized in 1897 as the Hansatic Colonization society. It was backed by the Hamburg South American Steamship company and the North German Lloyd and acquired 1,500,000 acres of land in the state of Minas Geraes.

This society, in connection with the new German syndicate just formed, has been engaged for some time in overcoming the governmental prejudice in Germany against emigration. Several months ago a meeting of various German societies was held in Hanover, and a community of interests was established. The aim of these societies is not only to encourage emigration for the purpose of extending German trade, but also to keep alive love of the fatherland in the breasts of emigrants and guard against their becoming unutilized citizens of the countries to which they emigrate. This has been one of the chief grievances against the German emigrants to the United States. It has also been a subject of distress to Germans at home that all their countrymen who emigrated to Brazil were declared by the Brazilian constitution to be citizens of that country by the act of Nov. 15, 1888.

The most interesting fact that comes to Washington regarding German colonization and enterprise in Brazil is that the Germans thoroughly assimilate with the Brazilians. They are playing the game of commercial conquest and colonial aggression socially, politically and in every other way. Many Germans wed Brazilian women and cultivate Brazilian sociality, whereas the Americans and Englishmen hold aloof. They also join in the Brazilian holidays.

FOR A NATIONAL THEATER.

Chicago Playhouse Offered For an Experiment in That Direction.

The first national theater may be established in Chicago, after all. An experiment looking to that end is to be made there next spring, and out of it is hoped to grow the national theatrical company and in time a national theater, too, says the New York Sun. But the organization is deemed more important than the building for housing it, and to getting the company together the first efforts of the organizers will be devoted.

The movement has been started by Henry T. Powers, who will place Powers' theater at the disposal of the company to be organized for a period of three months. Should the experiments prove acceptable to the public, he says he is willing after that to turn the theater over to the organization for a stated time each year. It is not proposed to seek government or municipal help, but to raise a fund of $50,000 by private subscription for the other expenses.

The plan was suggested to Manager Powers by Leo Dietrichstein some time ago, and he is, therefore, really its originator. It is proposed to organize a stock company of 25 persons to present the pieces chosen. This will be large enough to permit the leading players to appear only three times a week, while the minor players appear nightly.

Four plays would be tried, and after they had been on view it could be seen which was the most popular. Two rounds of performances, it is considered, would show the direction of the public fancy conclusively enough. Afterward the piece or two pieces showing the greatest drawing capacity would have the preference in the succeeding two weeks, the others being played, however, at least once every week. At the end of a month a fifth play could be produced or revived.

The promoters of the plan hope to extend its operations to New York, Boston and Philadelphia. The company, it is suggested, could play three months each in Chicago and New York if a New York theater could be secured and divide the remaining three months between Boston and Philadelphia.

"Into cities much smaller than these," said Mr. Dietrichstein in an interview at Chicago, "the company could not hope to go, but its influence nevertheless would be felt in every city, and its repertoire of plays could be drawn upon after an interval by any city. More pieces could be put in with the knowledge that they could not be played two consecutive nights at a time with profit, and a blow would be dealt at the long run system."

CANAL FOR OCEAN LINERS.

Big Change Proposed in the Morris System at Jersey City.

Congressman McDermott and Collector Davis, the Democratic leader in Jersey City, said recently, according to the Philadelphia Press, that a bill will be introduced in the next legislature for the abandonment of the Morris canal, which has for many years failed to pay its expenses. It is then proposed to convert a portion of the canal which now crosses lower Jersey City into a deep waterway large enough for the largest ocean going steamers.

In this way it would be possible for ocean liners after passing up the Narrows to pass through the southern part of Jersey City, into Newark bay and to the 6,000 acres of Hackensack meadow land which a Morgan syndicate has just purchased for the purpose of establishing immense iron and steel plants.

It is expected that some of Morgan's steamships will use this canal to carry the products of the $1,000,000,000 steel trust to Europe. After the New Jersey legislature has passed the bill to allow the abandonment of the Morris canal Congressman McDermott is to secure federal appropriation to aid the canal plan.

The Lehigh Valley railroad is said to be interested in the project.

SWIMMER'S LONG TRIP.

Champion McNally Plans to Swim From Boston to New York.

Peter S. McNally, the champion long distance swimmer, has planned to swim from Boston to New York, says the New York Journal. He will start on Sunday, June 30, or the following day. The distance is more than 300 miles and is probably the longest journey ever attempted by an American swimmer.

McNally is confident that he can accomplish the feat and expects to average at least ten miles a day on the journey. He will be accompanied by six men in an open boat. Provisions and camping outfits will be taken along, and the party will make camp on shore every night.

This is not the first time that McNally has attempted long swims. He swam across the English channel in July, 1897.

Determination of Death by X Rays.

The subject of the definite determination of death is one of great importance, and new tests are from time to time submitted, says the New York Medical Journal. The latest one suggested, as we learn from The American X Ray Journal, is that of Professor Ottolenghi of the University of Siena. The professor is said to have discovered that, while it is easy to apply the rays to the lungs of a person who is alive or in trance, it is extremely difficult, indeed practically impossible, to apply them to the lungs of a person actually dead. The reason is that some intervening obstacle prevents the rays from penetrating into the body. He has repeatedly made a test of this kind, always with the same result. Professor Ottolenghi therefore suggests that, as this test can easily be made by any physician, it should in future be employed in all cases where there exists doubt of death.

Poisoned by Absorption

Through the pores of the skin many poisons are absorbed into the blood, deranging the circulation and affecting the constitution as quickly and seriously as those generated within the system. Just under the skin are innumerable hair-like blood vessels, and connecting these with the skin are millions of small tubes or glands, through which the poison is conveyed to the blood system. During the spring and summer, while the skin is most active and the pores well open, we are much more liable to be affected by Poison Oak and Ivy and other dangerous plants. Workers in brass, copper, lead and zinc have their health impaired and the blood supply poisoned through the absorption of fine particles of these metals and the acids used in polishing and cleaning them. Inhaling the fumes of lead give painters that rapid, waxy appearance of the skin. Barber's Itch is another disease that reaches the blood through the system. After the poison has reached the blood and been disseminated throughout the system it is too late to resort to local applications. In many cases the blood is affected simultaneously with the appearance of the rash or eruption of the skin, and all efforts should be directed to the purification and building up of the blood. Ugly eruptions and sores will continue to break out in spite of salves, washes, soaps or other external treatment.

S. S. S. is especially recommended for poisons of this character. So completely does it destroy the effect of the Oak and Ivy that there is no possibility of its reappearance, and it is equally as efficacious in brass or lead poisoning or Barber's Itch; building up and purifying the blood and driving out of the circulation impurities of every kind, and removing every blemish, sore or eruption from the skin. There is no substitute for S. S. S.; it is the only purely vegetable blood purifier known, and the safest and best in all constitutional or blood diseases.

Expiate the Killing of Carroll.

Found Guilty

O. Manslaughter is Clement Dickman

Who Confessed to the Killing
But Pleaded Self Defense.

The Jury Retired at Four O'clock and was Out All Night, But Returned a Verdict at 8 O'clock This Morning.

Clement Dickman, the self-confessed slayer of Jack Carroll, was thought to have a fighting chance for his liberty when the jury was finally locked up for the night without having arrived at a verdict. All hope fled this morning, however, when the jury reported that a conclusion had been reached, and there was hardly a person present but felt convinced that it meant a verdict for the state, as the best Dickman's friends hoped for was a disagreement. Judge Armstrong delivered his charge about four o'clock yesterday afternoon, and from that hour until after midnight, except during the hour when the twelve men were taken out to supper, the testimony and evidence was thoroughly digested.

Judge Armstrong returned to his home in Collins, immediately after the charge was delivered and Judge Cunningham remained at the court house to receive the verdict. At midnight there was still no sign of an agreement, and after ordering that the jury be kept together until morning, the court retired and it was not long after until the jurymen arranged themselves to get such rest as the rude accommodations offered.

They breakfasted this morning and it was not long after until the verdict was notified that they were ready to report. In the meantime a score or more of people had congregated in the court room and remained to hear the verdict that means the incarceration of the defendant behind the walls of the penitentiary unless the court should decide that Dickman deserves a second trial. The defendant could not wholly disguise his nervousness during the trying ordeal, but managed to keep himself under control. He was not taken to jail, but allowed to remain at liberty under his bond until the sentence is administered.

The jury, it is given out, stood ten to two for conviction on the charge of manslaughter when the first ballot was taken, and it remained so until this morning. The two opposed felt that Dickman was guilty to a degree but referred to designate the crime as a mere case of assault and battery. What led to a final agreement was the willingness of all to address a letter to the court asking that he be lenient in his final dealing with the prisoner, and this letter accompanied the verdict.

A motion for a new trial will follow and the questions arising in the argument for another hearing will be disposed of before Dickman's fate is sealed.

Who was Injured at Celina

Died from the Effects of Blood Poisoning.

The Lad Made His Home With an Uncle Near Beaver Dam to Which Place the Remains Were Shipped.

Oscar Eaton, the boy who was caught between the bumpers of a west bound freight on the L. E. & W. at this place, died Monday afternoon at 4 o'clock from blood poisoning and the remains were shipped to Leaver Dam Tuesday morning. As near as could be learned the boy was a son of an illegitimate cast-off and while an uncle had been made his guardian he had a bad disposition and could not be long at any place. From his statement he was heading his way on the freight train to Ft. Recovery and when the train stopped at the station here, got off on the south side and in climbing between two cars to get to the north side of the train his leg was caught between the bumpers and a chunk of flesh was pinched off from the ankle upwards several inches towards the knee clear to the bone. He bled profusely from the wound. Dr. Wintermute the representative physician of the Lake Erie at this place was called and had the boy removed to the Reservoir House where he carefully dressed the wound, but the condition of the boy was such that it would not coagulate and the loss of blood was great. Gangrene set in at once and after a desperate struggle the boy's life went out. An uncle of St. Marys with whom he lived most of the winter came over Sunday to see him and his guardian was over from Beaver Dam Monday. The boy was large of his age and would have passed for twenty-one years but his uncle declared that he was only fifteen. He seemed entirely indifferent as to his condition and almost to the last used the vilest of language to all who approached him. He claimed his home at a small place four miles from Beaver Dam.—Celina Observer.

On last Monday morning Mr. W. H. Heckler went to Cincinnati, in order to get in the city early he drove to Wapakoneta and left his horse in charge of a livery stable keeper. Mr. Heckler has one of the finest driving horses in our city and takes a particular pride in its superior qualities; upon his return in the evening he called at the stable for his "rig" when a superannuated, degenerated animal was brought out for him, but he soon informed them that they had the wrong horse; then it was discovered that, by mistake, Mr. Heckler's roadster had been sent out with a drunken fellow who chanced to put up at the barn during the day. Mr. Heckler started at once after his horse, driving all night, tracing it to Lima and back again to Wapakoneta. On arriving here, the animal was found to be in a pitiable condition; three shoes were gone, and the noble beast was exhausted. The livery stable keeper still has the animal, Mr. Heckler refusing to compromise or except the horse until the extent of its injuries were determined.—St. Marys Graphic.

ARRESTED

And Taken to Wapakoneta On a Charge

Of Obtaining Money Under False Pretences.

Lima Man Giving His Name as
George Newman is in Auglaize
County Jail Awaiting
Grand Jury Session.

On the 3d of last December a slick fellow named Chas. Newman, of Lima, swindled George Alspaugh, of this city, out of $75 in money, says the Auglaize Democrat. Newman represented that he owned a good farm and a large lot of hogs, and was about to buy another piece of property, but lacked just $75. In having enough money to pay for it. He took George over to St. Marys and showed him the property he had contracted for, and promised to establish him in business as soon as the transfer was made if he would loan him the money. George shelled out the cash and Mr. Newman slipped out after giving him his note for the amount.

Nothing more was heard of him until a day or two ago, when George learned that he had returned to Lima. A warrant was immediately sworn out for the rascal's arrest, and yesterday Constable Runyan went to Lima and arrested him. He was brought down and arraigned before Squire VanAnde on a charge of obtaining money under false pretences. He entered a plea of not guilty, but the evidence was so clear against him the justice bound him over to the grand jury in the sum of $300. He could not furnish the required bond, and was taken to jail, where he will probably remain until the next term of the court.
